

PRESS RELEASE

New Ownership for Green Bay Medical Device Manufacturer

Green Bay, Wisconsin, July 25, 2011 -- Creative Business Services is pleased to announce the sale of American Prosthetic Components, Inc. (APC) to Beverly Capital, LLC. The transaction occurred June 30, 2011 and was managed by Michael J Schwantes of Creative Business Services, Green Bay, Wisconsin.

APC is a leading medical device manufacturer located in Green Bay. The Company is one of only 13 manufacturers in the world that produce lower-extremity prosthetic feet and components. APC has developed its own proprietary technology and holds 8 current patents valid through 2023-2024. All manufacturing is done within the Company's manufacturing division. Through its current product offering and innovative R&D advancements, APC is well positioned as a market leader. Michael Curtis, one of the founders of the company, will continue as President and will assist in continued expansion.

APC is a good fit with Beverly Capital, LLC, a Chicago-based company that focuses on investments in healthcare related companies. Beverly Capital provides equity or mezzanine financing to support management led recapitalizations, minority growth investments and strategic acquisitions.

"APC has clearly established itself as a strong player in the Orthotics and Prosthetics market, providing high quality products along with top notch customer service. In addition, their ability to innovate is unique and will aid in market share growth. We are delighted to have closed this transaction and look forward to working with management to execute their plan to grow the business through organic as well as strategic expansion," stated Matthew Evans, a principal of Beverly Capital, LLC.
